For those who fancy whimsy as well as drama with their musicals, the 2019-2020 Hancock Whitney Broadway in New Orleans schedule should fill the bill.

Eight musicals are on the schedule, announced today, Jan. 22. The season, presented by the New Orleans Theatre Association, will begin in the fall at the Saenger Theatre.

Headlining is the six-time Tony Award and 2018 Grammy Award-winning Best Musical “Dear Evan Hansen.” Also in the lineup are “Mean Girls,” “A Christmas Story, The Musical,” “Miss Saigon,” “Anastasia,” “Fiddler on the Roof,” Roald Dahl’s “Charlie and the Chocolate Factory” and a return of “Wicked,” last performed at the Saenger in 2016.

“Saenger Theatre is thrilled to bring some of Broadway’s latest smash hits like ‘Dear Evan Hansen’ and ‘Mean Girls’ to New Orleans,” said Sam Voisin, general manager of the Saenger Theatre. “This season celebrates the beauty of Broadway and is sure to entice audiences of all ages with great market debuts, revivals, family favorites and Broadway blockbusters.”

Season subscription renewals begin on Tuesday, Jan. 22, at 10 a.m., and the wait list for the season is open. New subscriptions are expected to go on sale in mid-March.

Season subscriber seven-show packages start at $279 and can be renewed by calling (800) 218-7469 or visiting online at www.BroadwayInNewOrleans.com. The deadline for current season subscribers to renew and keep their seats is Feb. 24.

“We are proud to be the title sponsor of the Hancock Whitney Broadway in New Orleans series at the Saenger which will host an exciting lineup coming to New Orleans for the 2019-2020 season,” said Gary Lorio, regional president of Hancock Whitney.

“Wicked” is not included in the seven-show season subscription package. Season subscribers have first access and can add the show to their season subscription upon renewal.

Sale dates for individual shows will be announced in the coming months.
